Legal Expertise

Meghan's practice focuses on commercial litigation. She has assisted in representing banks, insurance and reinsurance companies in complex litigation and arbitrations. Meghan also has experience with secured transactions and commercial matters, including successfully replevying property and assisting with the disposition of collateral pursuant to the Uniform Commercial Code. More recently, Meghan has expanded her practice to include coverage issues relating to Directors and Officers Liability, Insurance Company Errors and Omissions Liability, Managed Care Professional Liability, and Employment Practice Liability policies. In addition, she has successfully contested the validity of a will and trust agreement on the bases of lack of testamentary capacity and undue influence. Meghan is an associate at KFP.
